DROPPED DEAD IN THE STREET

Aged Farmer Stricken with Heart Failure in Haymarket Square

John W. Johnson, a well known farmer living on Elwyn road, dropped dead early this morning on Middle street near Haymarket Square, in front of the residence of Paymaster Ring, U. S. N., retired.

Physicians were called, but the unfortunate man was beyond aid, and lived but a very few minutes. The cause of his death was heart failure. He had long suffered from heart trouble.

Mr. Johnson leaves a wife and daughter, Miss Kate Johnson. He was aged 83 years, 8 months and 20 days.

NAVY AIRSHIP FLIGHT TODAY

Ely Starts from Birmingham's Deck in Chesapeake Bay

Today Aviator Ely makes a flight from the deck of the scout cruiser Birmingham, and navy officers are awaiting with much interest the result of the experiment, as it represents the navy department's first test of the airship's value in war tactics.

The Birmingham, with Ely and his heavier-than-air machine, will sail from Hampton Roads up the Chesapeake bay for twenty or thirty miles, at which point the aviator will launch his machine into the air and retrace the course of the cruiser, landing. If his plans do not miscarry, in the Norfolk navy yard.

The navy department is pursuing a close study of aerial navigation and intends to make a valiant effort to keep abreast of the accomplishments of other nations along that line. No concrete plan for the acquisition of airships has been decided upon. Whether congress will be asked for an appropriation or whether airships will be included in the specifications of war vessels as a part of their equipment will be decided by the Secretary of the Navy.

McCOY HELD FOR SUPERIOR COURT

Pleads Not Guilty and Goes to Jail Without Bail

Patrick McCoy, charged with intent to kill Charles H. Stewart on Saturday last came up for hearing in the morning session of municipal court today.

The respondent was represented by Attorney John W. Kelley, who moved to quash the case on the ground that no offence was charged in the writ.

The court read through the warrant and allowed the case to proceed.

Through his counsel, he waived examination and entered a plea of not guilty. The court ordered the case to the April term of superior court and McCoy was committed to jail without bail.

The continued case of Floren McDonald, charged with larceny of a fur coat from Rufus Wood, was not pressed, a settlement being made between the interested parties.

Michael McDermott for drunkenness was sent to the county farm for six months in a mittimus issued today by the chief of police.

TO ERECT BOX FACTORY ON PISCATAQUA RIVER

Pickering Farm Sold to Concern Operating in Manchester and Other Cities

The heirs of Geo. Pickering have sold their farm, situated near the Newington line on the Piscataqua river, to Stanley King of Boston.

The farm comprises about fifty acres, and it has been sold to Mr. King for the W. H. McElwain Shoe company of Manchester and several other cities and one of the wealthiest concerns in New England.

They will immediately erect a large box factory on the river front for the manufacture of shoe cases which will be shipped to their factories in Manchester, Haverhill, Newport and Biddeford.

This is the concern which the Herald exclusively announced a few weeks ago was seeking a site for a lumber mill.

The company will receive their lumber by water and ship the boxes by rail. The company made an effort a few weeks ago to purchase another site, but failed to secure it, and on Saturday they completed the purchase of the above named property.

The farm is the last piece of property in Portsmouth, adjacent to the Newington line.

REGAINS MEMORY AFTER 13 YEARS

After a separation lasting 13 years, according to the Boston Journal of Saturday, George W. Heath, and his wife are beginning their honeymoon all over again at North Hampton.

In 1897, while visiting in Massachusetts Mr. Heath was knocked unconscious by a sign which had been dislodged by the wind. When he was discharged from the hospital his mind, as regarded the fact, was a blank.

He established a blacksmith shop at No. Hampton in which he labored quietly until one day last week, when his memory suddenly returned and his mind regained its normal conditions.

He remembered that he had a wife living in South Casco, Me., and there he he took himself with all

REVER AND HARBOR

The steamer Charles F. Mayer is discharging coal on the north side, the five master Governor Brooks on the short side, and the barge No. 13 at the new wharf.

A queer looking craft is the old schooner Horizon, an arrival in the lower harbor last night. She is 53 years old and has not visited this port since her younger days. She hails from New York and has all her life been employed in Long Island Sound trade, rarely coming east of Cape Cod.

The C. G. Deering Co. at Bath will launch their new four masted schooner Lydia M. Baxter in about two weeks. She will be commanded by Capt. C. L. Hempel of Camden. It is an arrival here, formerly of sailing of the Sea.

The auxiliary schooner Francis Hyde, the only craft of her type on the coast and a frequent visitor here, which has just installed new funnels and air compound engines and new boilers at New York, on a trial trip Friday made 12 knots an hour, double the speed afforded by her old engines.

The little fish commission steamer Gannet, which left this port Friday after undergoing repairs, took on a lot of seed lobsters in Portland Saturday in addition to those she brought down from Portsmouth and proceeded down to the Bathfish hatchery.

A surprise was in store for the T wharf fish dealers today when the schooner Aspinet sold a 100 pound swordfish which became entangled in the buoy line off Moose Island Saturday. The swordfish, scarce a few weeks ago, and no more were expected in this year. A large mackerel was taken in the trawl but the cook served it up to the crew.

The lighthouse steamer Myrtle arrived in Portland Saturday afternoon from a cruise of several days to the westward, during which she has set buoys off Cape Porpoise and Saco, landed material at the Nubble and Isles of Shoals and set up a tripod at Cape Porpoise.

Imagine the difficulty of casting a play having five characters, which are supposed to resemble one another as to facial expression. This is the case in "The Family," the new play which the Shuberts recently brought out in New York and which will soon be seen at Music Hall. When the idea of casting the play was brought to Mr. Robert H. Davis, the author, agreed with Mr. Lee Shubert in the plan of engaging five people who looked alike, saying it was the very thing to carry out. The Theatopian Huber of New York was looked over and the most careful selection made. The cast calls for people rather under than over the average height, more or less fair in color and complexion, and smart in attire, but otherwise studiously small, compact type, as to speak.

The plot revolves around a New England family made up of five people—father, mother, two daughters and a son, Miss Mabel Horn, who plays the part a little mother. Is considerably like the average New York woman and according to Mr. Davis, portrays the general characteristics of his own mother, who was the inspiration for the play. John Wrenley is the son, Miss Julie Horn is the daughter, next to whom the younger sister and Sam Edwards is the father. All possess the same large nose and broad forehead as he mother. Thomas McCarren, the character of the Minister May, who proves ultimately to be the source of the complications that overwhelm the Sneed family, is a sinister of a darker type, so much so in fact that he serves to accentuate the close resemblance of the Sneed themselves.

The theme of "The Family" is based upon the theory that the mother and not the father is the stronger force for good when a crisis comes which threatens the existence of the family. It is the opinion of Mr. Lee Shubert, who brought out the play, that Mr. Davis has grasped the theme with so sure a touch that "The Family" will have as wide vogue as any play in the present generation.

Graustark

The mere announcement that "Graustark" is coming to this city should arouse an exceptional interest in all lovers of the theatre, for as a rule they are also readers of fiction, and if they have not seen the play, have read the novel. Mr. George Barr McCutcheon, the author, is a product of that great center of agriculture and literature, Indiana. Joe Whitcomb Riley, Pastor Taffner of Greencastle and General Lew Wallace have all contributed to the state's fame, but no "best seller" ever came out of Indiana and recorded greater fame and popularity than the works of McCutcheon—and the greatest of these is "Graustark." It has had a larger output than a combined sale of all his other books and the demand for it still continues. Mr. Sam H. Baker, who dramatized the novel, realized that it able would wish to see as much of MacArthur as possible; and therefore, kept as closely to the story as the dramatic epics would allow. A guarantee of the correctness and beauty of the production is the name of James W. Castle, who staged Miss Schumann-Heink's production of "Love's Lottery," "Qno Vadis," "When Johnny Comes Marching Home," and other plays for Mr. E. C. Whitney, Mr. Edwin Knowles and Mr. Alfred E. Asens. His starring of "Graustark's" has been a labor of love, and he has given all that thought, care, patience and skill can contribute to a sumptuous production.

"Graustark's" engagement at Music Hall on Thanksgiving day will be looked forward to by theatregoers and book readers of Portsmouth.

"The Stampede"

The appearance of an attorney to defend the Chiricaw and the assistance of valuable friends in an attempt to save the Indians' lives, and with the interesting story told by DeMille, the famous author of "The Sign of the Cross," will frame his latest success, "The Stampede," a comedy drama in three acts. In collaboration with Miss Helen Buckingham, the star of the production, DeMille has written another great American play, which promises to eclipse his earlier production. Miss Buckingham is a California girl, and this is her first appearance as a star. She is amply equipped for the position by Nature and experience and will be surrounded by a first class acting company, and complete production. "The Stampede" will be seen at Music Hall on Nov. 28.

SUCCESSFUL COCAINE RAID

Boston Police Locate Headquarters of Traffic

ALLEGED LEADERS CAUGHT

All the Arrested Parties Are Negroes; One Being a Woman Who Figured In Sensational Suit Against a Harvard Professor—$1000 Worth of Drug and Opium Layouts, as Well as Firearms, Seized

Boston, Nov. 14.—Sweeping down on the house at 9 Williams terrace, believed to be the headquarters of the cocaine traffic in the South End, a squad of police from Station 10 made a successful raid on the place and captured several of the alleged leaders in the notorious trade, as well as nearly $1000 worth of cocaine in its various forms and a complete layout of pipes. With those taken in by the police at the house was Annie S. Manley, the 27-year-old negro whose sensational suit against Professor Maroon of Harvard was tried two years ago.

Living Bealick and his wife, the proprietors of the joint, were taken in they tried to make their escape from one of the rear doors. The raid was conducted under the direction of Agents Parker and Taylor of the Watch and Ward society.

The lights in the house were put out at the instant the police broke in, and during the first minutes of the raid the police followed the police were unable to see with how many and with whom they had to cope.

A search of the house revealed opium pipes and outfits. Further search of the house brought to light great quantities of cocaine in all its forms. In another room an amount of cocaine was discovered. All were hauled into the waiting wagon and taken to police station 10.

In command of Sergeant O'Neil of Station 10, five patrolmen surrounded the house. Clad in efficient clothes, O'Neil approached the front of the house cautiously and whistled the signal known to the inmates of the house. In a moment the door was opened and a black face peered into the night.

Sergeant O'Neil's face was not familiar to the dusky denizen and the door was slammed and locked. Without waiting a moment, O'Neil gave the signal to the officers and, cautiously from all sides of the house the officers attacked it. Doors and windows were broken in and carefully the cordon of police began to clear that net a person in the house escaped.

While this raid was being conducted by the police of Station 10, the police of Station 9 were also breaking out other alleged dope dens. Louis Bishop, 23; John Johnson, 25; John Bishop, 27, and Mahd Bishop, all negroes, were arrested, trying to dispose of cocaine on Washington street, by Sergeants Chandler and Fitzgerald, with the assistance of agents of the Watch and Ward society.

It is alleged that some of these arrested were in the habit of meeting at the house and on leaving took with them small vials of cocaine which they disposed of on the street.

CONDUCTOR FINDS $2500

Returns It to Owner and Receives $10 For His Honesty

Worcester, Mass., Nov. 14.—Ten dollars in gold as a reward for finding $2230 in real money enclosed in an old shoe box is what Harry Stevens, conductor on an electric car, received from the owner, who claimed the contents of the package at the Uxbridge car barn.

Although the owner would not say why he had carried the large amount of money in such an odd way, it is believed that the contents of the shoe box was the amount of a week's payroll of one of the nearby mills, and the paymaster in his hurry to get off the car on his way back from the bank left it behind.

ATTACK ON CATHOLICS

Socialists Create Serious Disturbance During Parade in Italy

Medana, Italy, Nov. 14.—Catholics and Socialists came into collision here Sunday. A serious fight ensued and police detachments had difficulty in restoring order. Several persons were badly injured.

Catholic delegates who are holding their national congress here formed a procession in which several thousands joined. The paraders were attacked by bands of Socialists, crying "Viva Ferrer!" "Viva Nathan!" The Catholics responded with cries of "Viva Italy!" "Viva Bruchesi!" (the archbishop of Montreal).

MEN'S BIBLE-CLASS PARADE

Five Thousand Christians March Through Streets of Boston

Boston, Nov. 14.—Boston saw 5000 men—with a large open Bible resting on a blue velvet cushion for a standard—marching through the streets when the Men's Bible Class clubs paraded yesterday.

It was the greatest street demonstration of the young manhood of the Protestant churches ever seen in this city. There were beautiful banners, and great choruses delighted the thousands of spectators as the marching column joined in some favorite Christian hymn.

As the column swung down Berkeley street in Columbus avenue it is estimated that there 10,000 men, women and children and half a dozen bands joined in the chorus of the hymn "Onward, Christian Soldiers."

The showing of the men in line was brought to a fitting climax when, on reaching Tremont Temple, enough divisions of the marchers flocked into the building to comfortably fill both Converse and Lothrop halls, others proceeding to Ford hall, while others filed into the Park street church.

UNION NOT RECOGNIZED

New York and New Jersey Express Drivers Accept Employers' Terms

New York, Nov. 14.—The strike of drivers and helpers employed by the transcontinental express companies has been formally declared off and the men returned to work today. This ends one of the most serious labor disputes the metropolitan district has experienced in years, resulting in serious rioting and the practical de-upt of express business for more than two weeks.

The close of the strike was brought about by the New Jersey strikers, who voted Saturday night to accept the terms upon which the companies offered to take back the men.

The agreement provides the men shall be taken back without discrimination except for acts of violence during the strike. Each company will take up with its employees the adjustment of wages and hours.

Recognition of their union, the chief issue for which the strikers held out for several days, is not granted, however, but the open shop policy is to prevail.

FALL IS INDICTED ON MURDER CHARGE

Speedy Action by Grand Jury In Case of Slayer of Two

Boston, Nov. 14.—Walter G. Fall was indicted on two counts by the Suffolk grand jury for the first degree murder of Frank A. Ross and Police Sergeant Frederick Seiderley in District Attorney Puffer's office Thursday. He will be brought to trial in two months at the latest. This will establish a new record for murder trials in the courts of Massachusetts.

Fall will be arraigned in the superior criminal court early this week. The reason for the rapid working of the law in indicting the youthful slayer lies in the fact that the grand jury was sitting at the time of the murder and the prompt arrest of Fall made the indictment possible.

Three Masked Men Make Off In Automobile After Committing Robbery—Posse of Three Hundred Armed Men Vainly Search Swamp For Bandits, Who Are Believed to Have Made Their Way to New York

Great Barrington, Mass., Nov. 14.—With $15,000 in cash and checks the three daring masked bandits who on Saturday held up Paymaster Hine of the Worcester Construction company at the point of shotguns in sight of hundreds of workmen on the Egremont street railway extension are believed to have made a clean getaway in a big limousine auto which sped through Ashley Falls Saturday night, headed for the New York state highway.

Tales of Jesse James and his bold road agents of the wild west are outdone by the exploit of the masked trio who stepped out of the woods, compelled Hine and his two armed guards to put up their hands, and coolly walked off into the swamp with the money the paymaster was to distribute among his company's 500 employees.

In a blinding snow storm, suffering greatly from exposure, the posse of 300 armed men who had guarded all night the wild territory of twenty-five square miles into which the bandits disappeared, bent through the lonely tract Sunday without finding the slightest clue.

Encouraged by the miniature blizzard in the belief that tracking the fleeing robbers would be an easy task, State Officer Bligh marshalled his army of men hunters in a long cordon about the Egremont swamp.

As the posse covered mile after mile of treacherous marsh lands and rugged hills without so much as a footprint to reward their search, Bligh began to suspect that the bandits had slipped by the armed guards thrown about the unsettled district into which they escaped immediately after the holdup.

Then came the news from Ashley Falls of the speeding auto and the belief grew that the three men made their way a mile or more through the bushes and swamp, carrying the heavy bags of plunder, to the machine waiting in a little used crossroad.

Scores of automobiles raced for Egremont from every direction shortly after the robbery occurred, bringing the armed men summoned by the alarm sent out over the telephone by Deputy Sheriff Truesdale.

In the excitement and confusion, the bandits, in their own machine, could not be distinguished from the armed men on the way to join the posse.

Officials of the Worcester Construction company are checking up the three slips to ascertain just how much has been lost.

General Manager Robinson believes that $15,000 was in the suit case and handbag which contained the payroll. Of this about $10,000 was in cash. The rest was in "pay checks," which are supposed to be negotiable only by the men to whom they are issued, although many of the men are accustomed to cash these checks at the stores of tradespeople, who in turn give the face value back from the construction company.

Paymaster Hine started out from Great Barrington Saturday to pay off the men employed on the Egremont extension. He was escorted by Deputy Sheriff Truesdale and Manager Robinson. Hine is almost heartbroken over his loss. Truesdale seems to feel the worst over the affair, however, as he was sent along to protect the money and didn't get a chance to do anything except put up his hands when ordered to do so.

FOOD FOR DEAD CHINAMAN

Strawn on the Water From the Coast of Brazil to Boston

Boston, Nov. 14.—There is a trail of rice all the way from the coast of Brazil to Boston harbor, but it doesn't indicate that a hare and hounds game has been played on the ocean, but merely the superstitious nature of a crew of Chinese, who reached here on the British steamer Chatham.

The steamer came from the west coast of South America. When off Brazil Li Chow, one of the crew, fell overboard and was drowned, and all the rest of the way up the South American coast the other members of the crew threw overboard rice and other choice foodstuffs that the drowned man might not feel the pangs of hunger while tolling onward to another world.

Claim of Photographer Who Says He Met Professor James' Spirit

New York, Nov. 14.—Professor William James, who at the time of his death was instructor in psychology in Harvard university, and who said just before he died that he would try to get into communication with the material world from beyond the grave, has appeared in the spirit and has been photographed in that state by Soren Lindgren, according to a statement by the latter.

Lindgren, who is a professional photographer, was at work in the dark room of his studio developing pictures when he felt, he says, "a strange sense of another presence in the room, and, on looking around could see a wraith slowly taking form, but the lines never became distinct. But almost every day thereafter, he said, the wraith was present. His efforts to engage it in conversation were futile until finally he asked: "Are you Professor James?"

The answer was "Yes," and Lindgren asked the spirit if he would pose for a picture. "Not here," was the reply, according to Lindgren; "I will see you at your house tomorrow night at 9 o'clock."

Lindgren prepared a camera and, true to his promise, he says, the spirit appeared and the picture was taken. Lindgren says he was unable to engage the ghost in conversation.

TIME FOR CHEAPER FOOD

Falling Prices Insured by Heavy Crops, According to Wilson

Washington, Nov. 14.—Lower prices for meats and other foods should be the result of the bumper crops which the United States has produced this year, in the opinion of Secretary of Agriculture Wilson.

"We have had bumper crops," he said, "and meat prices should come down; that is if no combine is formed among the dealers. My views apply to all kinds of meat. The crops have been such that a falling in price is the inevitable result. The only thing that can defeat this will be if too great a toll is taken after the product leaves the hands of the farmers and before they reach the consumers."

MARS' AIRSHIP PUT OUT OF COMMISSION

Oil Can Prevents Flight From
Liner Back to New York

New York, Nov. 14.—J. C. Mars of the Curtiss staff, substituted for J. A. D. McCurdy, did not make the proposed 50-mile aeroplane flight from the deck of the Hamburg-American liner Pennsylvania. An oil can, sucked into the propeller, put the craft out of commission, but Mars' luck might have been worse, had as it was.

Squalls and snow flurries played tag with each other across the lower harbor and, as the sun went down the wind rose. Either Mars must have risked his life against heavy odds, or have confessed that his task was beyond him.

A NATION-WIDE BATTLE

Strong Blow to Be Delivered at White Slavery in United States

Washington, Nov. 14.—With one sweep of its long arm the department of justice hopes to annihilate organizations of white slave traders and to stop traffic in women in the United States.

The machinery which the attorney general and his assistants will use in this nation-wide battle consists of a corps of legally trained sleuths who have long been in the service of the department and engaged in running down the worst kind of criminals, and breaking up the most extensive fraud schemes.

This corps of agents will soon be turned loose in every city in the country. Every employment agency, every dive and rendezvous in each of the cities will be fine toothcombed by these human ferrets. For months several of these agents have been in the field making preliminary investigations.

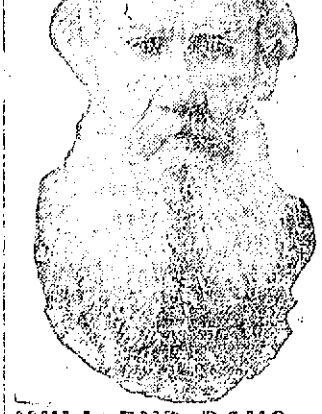

Harvard Defeats Dartmouth
Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 14.—Superior skill and bewildering versatility gave Harvard the victory over Dartmouth in the annual football game in the stadium. The score, 13 to 0, fairly represents the difference between the two eleven in the finer points of football. In strength, weight and condition the teams were well matched.

Football Captain Killed
Wheeling, W. Va., Nov. 14.—Rudolph Monk, captain and left half-back of the West Virginia university football team, died Saturday night of concussion of the brain received in the game with Bethany here Saturday. The team played for the state championship.

COUNT TOLSTOI

Famous Author Reported as Mysteriously Missing

WILL END DAYS IN SOLITUDE

Tolstoy Says He Cannot Live Surrounded by Luxury HE DESERVES HIS WIFE

Latter Twice Attempts Suicide When Announcement of Novelist's Mysterious Disappearance Is Made—Accompanied by Physician When He Departed—Has Condemned Suicide as Immoral in His Writings

Tula, Russia, Nov. 14.—The mysterious disappearance of Count Leo Tolstoy, the Russian novelist and social reformer, which took place Oct. 10, but which has just become public, has made a painful impression.

That he should desire to spend the evening of his days in solitude surprised an one acquainted with his strange career, but that he should deliberately desert his wife who had borne him nine children is difficult of belief, even in the light of his well-known eccentricities of character.

The suggestion of a falling mentality is accepted by many in connection of the count's sudden leave taking.

Coincidentally with the announcement of the mysterious disappearance of Count Leo Tolstoy Countess Tolstaya attempted to commit suicide by drowning through a hole in the ice. She was prevented by servants who have been watching her.

The countess has been in deplorable state for several days, and in a letter to her declared she wanted to remain in solitary confinement until his death should come. The letter said:

"I cannot continue longer to live surrounded by luxury and like many other old men, I retire from the world to complete my life in solitude."

"I ask that you do not seek my place of solitude and that you do not come to it if it is discovered. I beg forgiveness for the grief that I may cause you."

The novelist's reference to being and luxurious surroundings is significant of his state of mind, as he has long lived the life of a peasant, while his family occupied a mansion on the Yasnaya Polyana estate.

The first news of Tolstoy's disappearance came from Prince Dmitry Obolensky, who says that the count left his home several days ago, accompanied by Dr. Makarovsky, his physician. That the doctor should be a party to the affair is another strange feature.

In his writings Tolstoy has condemned suicide as immoral and irrational and as indicating a perverted view of the significance of life. It is believed that Tolstoy proceeded to an old monastery in the government of Kaluzh, which administers the government of Tula on the west.

The picture, suggested by the cable dispatches, of an old man in his 82d year wandering off into the woods to die alone, and the wife who has shared his trials and victories for a half-century, forlorn and deserted, and watched over to see that she does not end her life—this is the tragedy of Count and Countess Tolstoy.

Countess Tolstoy is a woman of fine breeding and education. Tolstoy's vagaries and his peculiar mode of life were a great strain on his devoted wife, but she remained by him throughout.

Steamer Wrecked on Rocks
Cordova, Alaska, Nov. 14.—The Alaska coast steamship Portland struck a submerged rock off Katalla, tearing a hole in her bottom. She was beached and the passengers were landed safely. If a storm arises the Portland will be a total loss.

Noted "Black Horse" Rider Dead
Washington, Nov. 14.—Brigadier-General Beverly H. Robertson, a Virginian, one of the few survivors of the famous "Black Horse Cavalry," that distinguished the Virginia campaign during the Civil war, died at his home here, aged 83.

NEW TALES THAT ARE TOLD

Worse and Worse.

"Tipping gets worse and worse on the other side," said Senator Dewey in a recent interview.

"A New Mexican told me that at the Savoy, in London, he went to have a wash before luncheon, but saw a placard on the mirror saying:

"Please tip the basin after using."

"This made the man so angry that he rushed from the wash room muttering: "No! I'll go dirty first."

"The New Mexican added that after he got his lunch he tipped the waiter,

"I saw you get into the car," the waiter's two helpers, the man who gave him his hat and gloves and the man who whistled for a taxi. The vehicle rolled out into the Strand, and our friend leaned back, with a sigh of relief, when he was aware of a boy in buttons running along beside the window.

"Well, what do you want?" said the New Mexican savagely.

"A few coppers, sir, according to the usual custom, sir," the boy panted.

"Why, what did you do?" started the New Mexican.

"If you please, sir," said the boy, "I saw you get into the cab."

Hard Headed.
Champion Jack Johnson at Baron Wilkins' supper in his honor in New York said of the Reno fight:

"Jeffries is a gentleman and a square fighter, but he didn't land a whack that hurt. I'm pretty nearly unalterable, I guess. I'm like the bricklayer's helper."

"A bricklayer, you understand, once hired a new helper. This chap was renowned for his hard head. The bricklayer thought he would test him, so the first morning while the helper was filling his pipe at the bottom of the ladder the bricklayer, up on the eighth floor, flicked a bit of mortar down on his pipe."

"The helper never noticed it at all. The bricklayer took a brick and dropped that down. Bang! It landed square on the helper's skull."

"The helper took his pipe out of his mouth and scowled up at the bricklayer."

"Say," he growled, "be careful where yer droppin' that there mortar!"

COLONEL ROOSEVELT'S EXQUISITE TACT

How He Disposed of a Hand-shaking Kansas Bore.

"Mr. Roosevelt's tact is amazing," said Harry Mills, the editor of the Osawatomie Globe. "Here is a case in point."

"While Mr. Roosevelt was in Osawatomie an informal reception was held in his honor. But one young man came near spoiling this reception. He grasped Mr. Roosevelt's hand and began to pour out an endless flood of praise. He analyzed and commented every action of Mr. Roosevelt's public life. And meanwhile hundreds of good men from Fontana, Chiles, Incyrus, Loumax, and even more distant towns stood waiting in the background. The reception, so to speak, was blocked, grounded."

"Mr. Roosevelt, however, was equal to the occasion. Laying his hand on the young man's arm, he smiled apologetically and said:

"But I'm monopolizing you."

His Conclusion.
Claude Gramme-White, the English aviator, crashed at a dinner in New York the American stage.

"Your plays are livelier than ours," he said. "Our plays are very dull and stupid. A novelist said to me one night at the Automobile club in London:

"I have written several plays, and they have all been rejected. So I devoted last month to a study of the London theater. I took in every play in town. I was resolved to get a lot of points on the English stage."

"And did you learn much?" said I.

"Well," said the novelist moodily, "I came to the conclusion that I'm the only man alive who can't get a poor play put on."

NEW HAMPSHIRE

POPULATION 430,572

An Increase of But 18,984 in Ten Years--Rockingham County Shows a Small Increase.

The population of the state of New Hampshire is 430,572, the figures being given out on Saturday by the census bureau at Washington. It shows an increase in ten years of only 18,984, or 4.4 per cent, the figures in 1900 being 411,588.

The smallness of the increase was not surprising, inasmuch as it was known that some of the counties were anything falling back, and only the small portions could be depended upon to make any big increase. Hillsborough county made an increase of nearly fourteen thousand, or within four thousand of the entire increase for the state.

Rockingham County makes an increase of just exactly 1000 since 1900, and if the estimates made for this city are right, the increase here will be that much, if not more.

Three counties lost since 1900, Cheshire fell back 602, Carroll lost 570 and Strafford 286.

The population of Merrimack county has increased from 52,430 in 1900 to 53,335.

The population of Belknap county is 21,209, that of 1900 was 19,529, a gain of 1780. Carroll county has 16,216 as against 16,895, a loss of 679. Cheshire, 30,659, while in 1900 the figures were 31,321, a falling off of 662. Coos has a population of 30,753 and in 1900 the figures were 23,468, a gain of 185. In Grafton county the figures were 41,652, and in 1900 they were 40,844, showing a gain of 808. Rockingham county has a population of 52,438, in 1900 it was 51,138, a gain of exactly 1000. In Strafford county the figures are 38,551, as against 36,327 in 1900, a loss of 226. Sullivan county has 19,327 and in 1900 had 18,009, a gain of 1318. Hillsborough county has made the largest gain, the figures being 13,432 and Belknap county is second with a gain of 1483.

The census for this city and for the other cities of the state other than Nashua and Manchester, have not been given out as yet, but are expected to be issued shortly.

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH

Instead of the usual sermon at St. John's church on Sunday morning, the rector, Rev. Harold M. Folsom, gave an able talk which was heard with much interest by the congregation. Among his remarks Mr. Folsom emphasized the splendid work done in the past by this old, historic parish, the oldest in the diocese of New Hampshire, and spoke of the opportunities of the present. Special music was rendered by the double quartette.

The regular session of the Sunday school was held in the chapel at noon.

Evening service was held in the chapel, when the rector gave the second in a series of six lectures in preparation for the Apostolic rite of confirmation. His topic was "The Nature of Confirmation." Miss Sara A. Folsom sang the aria, "Eye hath not seen, ear hath not heard," from the oratorio, "The Holy City," by Gault.

her excellent voice being heard to advantage in this rendition.

The subjects of the lectures for the coming four Sunday evenings are as follows:

November 20—"Qualifications for Confirmation."

November 27—"The Church in History, Creeds, Appearance and Fact."

December 4—"Councils on the Christian Life."

December 11—"Examination of the Confirmation Office."

The celebration of the fortieth anniversary of the consecration of Bishop Niles will take place in conjunction with the Diocesan convention and the annual meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary in St. Paul's church, Concord, today, Tuesday and Wednesday. This parish will be represented by the rector, the Rev. Harold M. Folsom, the two wardens, John H. Rose and Thomas H. Elmes, vestrymen Arthur H. Locke and Caleb Howard. Miss Florence Cleaves and Mrs. Arthur H. Locke will go as delegates of the Woman's Auxiliary of St. John's Parish, while other members are also planning to attend.

The exercises open this afternoon with evening prayer and a missionary service will be held this evening with addresses by the Rt. Rev. Lucien Lee Kinsolving, bishop of Brazil, and the Rev. S. D. Drury, vice rector of St. Paul's school.

Tomorrow the annual meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary will be held and Miss Julia C. Emery, general secretary, will give an address in the forenoon. After lunch the Woman's Auxiliary will visit the Orphan's Home and at 4:00 p. m. a tea will be served at St. Paul's school.

At 4:00 p. m. the Diocesan convention organizes for business in the Parish House and at 6:30 p. m. a banquet is given in honor of Bishop Niles.

A reception open to all will be held at 7:30 p. m. in the Parish House. Bishop Parker will preside and interesting addresses are to be given and summaries of history which the occasion demands.

The program for Wednesday includes two celebrations of the Holy Communion, the bishop's annual addresses at 9:00 a. m., a commemorative service at 10:00 a. m. and the day will close with the business sessions of the convention.

YOUNG FOR THE SENATE

Popular Iowa Editor Named by Carroll to Succeed Dooliver

Des Moines, Nov. 14.—Governor Carroll has announced the appointment of Lafayette Young, editor of the Des Moines Capital, as United States senator from Iowa, to succeed the late Senator Dooliver.

"Laf" Young is a pioneer newspaper man of Iowa. He was "printer's devil" as a boy and afterwards became editor of a St. Louis paper at Atlantic. About twenty years ago he bought the Iowa State Capital, an afternoon paper. About that time he was made state printer and was thus able to keep the newspaper afloat.

The Capital is devoted to the standard element. It was Young who placed Roosevelt in nomination for vice president at the Philadelphia convention of 1900. He is a witty, genial man, a splendid speaker and very popular.

AT MUSIC HALL

The Clark Brothers, who headed the list of vaudeville entertainers at Music Hall the last three nights, gave one of the best double ring acrobatic feats ever seen in this city. They showed great dexterity and their work was indeed marvelous. The applause was tremendous at their every appearance and well deserved.

Another pleasing feature was the appearance of Miss Daryl Taylor whose pianoforte execution was exceptionally good as well as somewhat of a novelty in the line of vaudeville here. Miss Taylor is well known in musical comedy productions, having been a member of the Frank Daniels Company after seasons ago, also of the Rogers Bros. She is a native of Canada and the present season is her first in vaudeville in which she is very successful.

Four candidates were initiated to the third degree at the meeting on Saturday night of Osgood lodge, I. O. O. F. District Deputy Grand Master George H. Brown has informed the lodge that he will make his official visit Dec. 8. The third degree will be exemplified for his benefit. A committee consisting of John H. Venten, Charles H. Kehoe and Chas. H. Clough was appointed to buy new paraphernalia for the work. The degree will be rehearsed after the meeting Thursday night.

BIG BERLIN FIRE
THREATENS CITY

For more than five hours early today the firemen of Berlin, this state, battled to prevent the entire business section of the city from being swept by a fire which destroyed the new Albert Theatre on Main street, with a loss estimated at $100,000.

The theatre was located in the heart of the business district and for a long time it was feared several other buildings in the vicinity would take fire.

The fire started underneath the stage of the theatre and probably was caused by an overheated furnace.

There was nobody in the theatre when the fire started and it was not until the flames burst through the doors and windows that the fire was discovered by a passing citizen who sounded an alarm.

The playhouse was one of the best of its kind in New England. It was owned by Albert Croitel and erected on the site of a former opera house of the same name which was destroyed by fire three years ago. The theatre was practically new, having been opened in February.

EVENTS OF ELIOT

Eliot, Nov. 14.

The Harpscrabble club of Port Eliot dedicated its new club house Saturday evening with a full attendance. The following were elected officers for the coming year: President, Benji Dixon; vice president, Zeke Hemick; secretary, Joe Leach; treasurer, Pip Foster; trustees, Bill Foster and Fred Robinson. The dedicatory exercises consisted of speeches, music and card playing, and continued till 10 o'clock. A sumptuous supper followed, consisting of clam chowder, lobster salad, cold meats, ice cream, cakes, fruit, etc. After the repast a smoke talk was indulged in till a late hour, when the members dispersed, vowing the occasion one of the times of their lives.

Mrs. Mary Elizabeth (Shapleigh) Hammond, widow of Pierpont Hammond, died at her home on Saturday night. Mrs. Hammond was well known as one of the town's best women of the old New England character, keenly intelligent, industrious, self sacrificing, and ever ready to assist others. She leaves three children, Edwin Hammond of Boston and Misses Florence and Emma Hammond of Eliot.

The special meetings at the South Eliot Methodist church will continue through the present week, and announcement will be made later as to whether they will continue longer.

Miss Mary Lizzie Spinney is visiting in Boston and vicinity. Robert W. Phinney and family of Portsmouth have closed their summer home at Sturgeon creek. Charles H. Spinney of Sanbornville, N. H., was in town on Saturday.

The funeral of Mrs. Thaddeus Knight, held this afternoon at the home on Pleasant street, was largely attended by sorrowing friends. The services were conducted by Rev. Alexander Dixon of Newburyport and she was laid to rest in the family lot. Mark Chick is very feeble.

A portion of the street railing near the Eliot and Kittery bridge is broken down.

MADE A NEW AMERICAN RECORD

Brown Won the Grand Prize at Savannah, But Drove a Foreign Car

Savannah, Nov. 13.—Saturday the New York boy, who, four years ago ran away from home to become a driver of a racing automobile, saved the reputation of the American drivers from obliteration by foreigners in the Grand Prize, the blue ribbon event of automobile contests. Speeding faster than man ever went before in an automobile road race, this young man, David Bruce-Brown, won the grand prize, by barely more than a second at the end of 152.2 seconds ahead of Victor Hemery, Frenchman. His time was five hours 53 minutes 3.35 seconds, setting a new American record on the road of 70.55 miles an hour.

Both he and Hemery drove Benz cars, so that the foreign machines triumphed over the American-made races. The consolidation in having an American at the wheel of the winner was increased by the feat of "Wild Bob" Burman, driving the maddest race of his career in an American car, the Marquette-Buick, which flashed third, getting not only third money, but an additional thousand dollars for the first American driver to finish in an American car.

Bobbed Burman were the dervish cars of some of the world's most famous drivers, who had failed to make their speed machines survive the terrific strain of twenty-four laps of curving roadways. These foreigners went to defeat fighting gamely, and in some instances recklessly.

Wagner, in his big red Fiat, was one of the griftiest. His driving nearly cost him his life and that of his mechanic, Louis Ferro. On the back stretch, while coming down a hill at top speed, Wagner lost control of his car for a fraction of a second, one of his front wheels striking a stone culvert, and throwing the car on its side for a slide of fifty feet into the trees bordering the speedway.

Ferro literally was shot into the top branches of a 20-foot willow, which caught him and broke his fall. He ran to the car beside which Wagner was lying with the machine, oil pouring about him from the broken tank. The great driver got up with the aid of his mechanic, and walked to the German club nearby. Later he was taken to a hospital where it was reported that he was not seriously hurt.

Willie Haupt, one of the Benz drivers, skidded off the road at the end of a long straightaway, side-swiped a giant live-oak and then plunged into a clump of bushes so thick that they apparently swallowed him. He and H. Feyhl, his mechanic, emerged from the woods only slightly bruised and scratched.

Fifteen cars started in the race. Inside twenty-five miles, the three Platts driven by Wagner, DePalma and Nazarro and the three Benz steered by Hemery, Bruce-Brown and Haupt, had left the Americans well behind. Hemery took the lead at about thirty miles and held it until the 140th mile, when a change of tires at the pits allowed four of the other foreign cars to rush past him. Meanwhile Nazarro, holder of the world's record of about seventy-five miles an hour, was doing the fastest laps of the day in an effort to catch Hemery. Nazarro's best time for a single lap was 12.32, which was at the rate of 76.17 miles an hour. For more than a hundred miles he laid out the pace, when Wagner took the lead for about forty miles, but lost it in filling his oil and gasoline tanks at the pits.

When the 200-mile mark was well in the rear and the race more than half over, these big cars were still bunched doing some thrilling driving. A scant three minutes at times separated the first four or five. Seconds only marked the difference in some of their laps.

Willie Haupt was the first to go crashing into the course. Sixty miles further, Wagner sent his car rolling into the ditch. Then Nazarro, reputed to be the world's most careful racing driver, bent his rear axle irreparably. For the next seventy-five miles there was a battle royal between DePalma's Fiat, which had taken the lead, and Bruce-Brown and Hemery in the Benz racers. Bruce-Brown running second, with DePalma a few yards behind him but two and a half minutes ahead on actual running time, tried to shake off the Italian. DePalma retaliated with reckless efforts to pass Bruce-Brown, once nearly overturning his car at the grandstand corner, as he skidded around the right angle turn not twenty yards from the Benz. When Brown rounded the turn and shot into his lap, DePalma was nowhere to be seen. He had stopped on the back stretch, out of the race, with a broken cylinder, when but for this accident there appeared to be no possibility of his losing the grand prize.

Schenck Gets Off With Suspended Sentence

Adolph Schenck, the colored waiter at Rye Beach hotel, who was charged with assault on a man named Remick at Rye, last August, was given a suspended sentence of one month in jail, in Superior court on Friday afternoon, and released.

Sunday was quiet with the police not a single complaint being made and no arrests, and not even a booking for a lodger. Saturday's business was not much better, other than the shooting case, only two drunks and the same number of lodgers.

TIMELY HINTS FOR FARMERS

Whitewash a Good Disinfectant.

The barns should be dusted often and whitewashed at least once a year not only to give them a good appearance and make the stable lighter, but to purify them and kill any germs of disease that may have collected on walls and ceilings. Whitewash is one of the cheapest disinfectants known and should be a part of the routine practice every year, and by use of a small fruit spray pump the work can be accomplished more quickly and far more effectively than when applied with a brush, as it can be driven into every crack and corner. The lime should be thoroughly slacked and strained through a fine wire screen or cloth and made thin enough to work nicely through the nozzle. A half bushel of lime will make about thirty gallons of whitewash. This should be used while fresh, as it loses its power to kill germ life after standing.

Success With Alfalfa.

The theory that a nurse crop will prevent the weeds choking the alfalfa is apparently as a rule not well founded. In the first place alfalfa should not be sown on foul land, and in the second place proper disking and harrowing at near intervals for four or six weeks before sowing will disturb or kill far more weeds than can any nurse crop. Besides, the oats or barley sown as a nurse will when cut leave weeds in good growth or dormant and ready to spring up as fast or faster than the alfalfa. No nurse crop is ever used with fall sowing. When ground has been thoroughly prepared for the preceding crop and then properly cared for and made ready for alfalfa by the preliminary weed destruction, it will be found advisable to sow alfalfa alone, even in the spring.—From Corns' "The Book of Alfalfa."

Carrots Good For Cattle.

Those who have one or two cows and a piece of ground that may be tilled should not fail to sow a few rows of half long carrot seed. If sown by hand the seed should be scattered so as to make a row of a couple of inches broad. They should be sown fifteen to sixteen inches apart. Keep them clean, but do not thin them when the seed has been prudently sown. When autumn comes the amount of good food furnished will be a matter of surprise. Until freezing weather the carrots may be simply pulled up and fed without chopping or slicing.

Bettering the Dairy Herd.

If you have only common cows breed them to a male of standard dairy blood and the result will give grade animals. These half blood grade animals bred in the same line will give animals more nearly pure bred, and this breeding and selection with judgment will result in a herd of high producing animals that will make money for the breeder or the man who buys them.

ECONOMY OF SILAGE FOR DAIRY COWS.

Result of a Feeding Test at the Ohio Experiment Station.

The Ohio experiment station instituted a careful test to determine the economy and efficiency of ensilage. They took two cows. To one was fed a ration made of 58 pounds of ensilage made of corn and soy beans, 4.8 pounds of mixed hay, 2 pounds of bran and 2 pounds of oilmeal. To the other cow was fed a ration made of 6.4 pounds of hay, 4.7 pounds of corn stover, 6 pounds of bran, 5 pounds of cornmeal and 2.5 pounds of oilmeal. The two rations are chemically of about the same value, but the cows found a marked difference.

The cow fed on the ensilage ration produced 8.9 pounds of butter from one dollar's worth of feed, while the other cow produced but 5.28 pounds of butter from the same cost of feed. Now, the above shows 3.62 pounds of butter more, of a value of $1.08, for the ensilage ration over the other ration. The cows were selected as being closely equal at the beginning in their producing capacity.—Hoard's Dairyman.

Dust Bath For Fowls.

A good dust bath should be provided for all fowls at all times. Dry road dust is one of the best absorbents and lice killers to put in the coops or under the perches. In winter it is the best of dust baths. It is very easily obtained and costs nothing but the time of storing it away.

Protection For Orchard Trees.

A lime wash which has been found a good protection for trees against rabbits is simply to wet enough unslicked lime to the point of consistency, add a little carbolic acid to the substance and paint the trunks of the orchard trees.

Test and Weigh the Milk.

When you admit that you haven't time to test and weigh the milk so as to keep a record of each cow you haven't time to dairy right.

HUMOR OF THE DAY IN THE REALM OF FASHION

The Remedy.

"Sir," he said as he studied into the clergyman's study, "you are the man who tied the knot, I believe."

"I beg your pardon?" said the clergyman, looking up from his sermon.

"You performed the marriage ceremony for me, didn't you?"

"Yes, certainly, Mr. Billings. What may I ask?"

"Then you know what the rights of a husband are?"

"Why, yes, in a general way."

"And the rights of a wife?"

"Of course."

"Well, now, sir," said the caller, drawing a chair up to the clergyman's desk and taking a seat, "has a wife a license to torture a husband?"

"Certainly not."

"If she makes his life miserable he has redress, of course?"

"Yes, but I should advise—"

"Never mind your advice now. We'll come to that later. My wife complains that I don't shave often enough."

"Oh, that's a small matter."

"Is it, sir? Just wait! I told her that that was my affair, and then she taught the children to cry when I kissed them, so that she could say that my rough chin hurt them."

"That hardly showed a Christian."

"Wait a minute! Yesterday morning I found them playing with the cylinder of a broken music box. You know how that seems to the touch?"

"Certainly."

"Well, she'd taught them to call it 'Papa's chin.'"

"Really, sir, I must admit—"

"Wait till I'm finished. Today one of them got up on my knee, passed his hand over my chin and called it 'Papa's music box.' Now, sir, I ask you as a Christian man and as the man who tied the knot, what shall I do?"

"Get shaved," replied the clergyman softly as he returned to his work.—Tit-Bits.

Clever Animals.

The correspondent of the Scotsman who saw a group of highland cattle standing around a sheep that was lying on its back, and further, saw one of the animals proceed to raise it to its feet by inserting his horns under its ribs, reminds us of the lady who, with her dog, entered a smoking carriage and, objecting to the gentleman she found there finishing his cigar, snatched the cigar from him and threw it out of the window, where the gentleman retaliated by treating her dog in the same way. The sequel occurred at the next station, when, just as the lady was about to give the gentleman in charge for wanton cruelty, the dog trotted up with the cigar in its mouth.—Black and White.

Round and Round.

A visiting friend had just given a penny to each of the children in the family and complimented them upon the vast wealth they had in their savings bank.

"Oh, yes," chirped little Jessie. "Every time we take our Easter oil with out crying mamma gives us a penny."

"And what do you do with all the money?" the visitor wanted to know.

"Mamma buys more Easter oil with it."—Success Magazine.

Setting an Example.

Comanche Pete happened along just as the Salvation Army girl at the street corner was taking up the collection.

He glanced at the pile of pennies in the tambourine.

"Then he threw in a silver dollar."

"Gosh," he muttered, passing on, "there don't seem to be a real sport in the bull-blamed crowd."—Chicago Tribune.

The Effects of Good Fortune.

"How did Pansy take the news of his good fortune?"

"It fairly paralyzed him and knocked him speechless."

"Oh, well, he'll get over that."

"I'm not so sure. He was out with the boys all the afternoon and evening, and when I saw him after midnight he was paralyzed and still speechless."

—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

A Natural Query.

My little nephew listened open mouthed at the description of a railroad accident in which a man was very seriously injured. When one of the family remarked, "I think he could get damages from the railroad," the little fellow was puzzled and broke out with, "But, father, hasn't he got damages enough now?"—Delmar.

Somo Hat.

Howell—Why did you move out of Rhode Island?

Iowell—My wife got a hat that more than covered the whole state, reaching over into Massachusetts, and I was afraid I'd bump up against the Interstate commerce act.—New York Press.

A Good Actor.

"I see you have an actor" employed on the farm."

"Yes, I put him on. He's a darn good actor too. I thought he was working the first week he was here."

—Kansas City Journal.

A Good Habit.

Success in life is not as difficult as is generally believed. It is a habit. Once acquired, it is as easy as being lazy.—Aldrich Globe.

Summa in Newport.

"Well, old fellow, how's your wife?"

"Which one?"—Life.

For the Danco.

French models have shown conspicuously wide ribbon girdles all summer, and the idea will be repeated on evening gowns this winter, especially on costumes designed for young girls. Most of the new evening models show an empire effect, and this demands snash ends and beautiful ribbons wide and soft enough to be drawn gracefully about the figure. French models usually show the large Japanese bow at the back, with or without long fringed ends. The effect of the bow is extremely quaint and gives a new touch to the regulation evening gown.

A lovely Paris design is shown in the sketch illustrating the latest note in a young girl's dancing frock. The skirt and surplice are of white silk mull.

PROCE WITH NEW BUTTERFLY BOW.

The tunic, which clings quite closely to the figure, is trimmed with pink satin roses, and a tussion of roses and leaves also decorates the white chandilly flounce. The wide sash and ends are of chantilly, and the frills on the surplice drape and sleeves are also of lace.

The gown, which is unusually beautiful, may be developed in a much more simple and inexpensive way, for instead of the lace sash one of ribbon may be worn, and its chantilly flounce may be replaced by one of inexpensive lace or net.

Ribbons form an important part in the millinery world this season, for many of the smartest hats have huge ribbon bows as their sole decoration. When used on the pot shaped hat they are usually very rich, showing gold and silver threads or handsome raised effects.

NEW FASHIONS FOR THE WINTER.

Satin Fentre the Most Unique of All Silk Fabrics.

This unprecedented season of silks is not a mere whim of fashion, but has been anticipated for several seasons—that is, the vogue of silks has increased each season until this, when now it seems as though the plume of success has been reached.

Satin fentre is probably the most unique of the new silk fabrics. During the summer Mme. Parisienne created the satin tailored suit. Regular weaves of satin answered the purpose for warm weather and the quite clinging attire of summer. But another satin fabric was absolutely necessary for the success of satin suits for winter. Madame demanded satin! So there was nothing left for the weaver to do but combine it with something else. And he did! A fentre (or satin) finish was woven on one side and satin on the other. This finish gives sufficient "body" for satisfactory tailoring, besides providing a bit of warmth.

Now fentre Paris has become enthusiastic over the felt side of the fabric and is making it up on the exterior instead of interior.

Satin tailleur is a similar fabric woven with a lightweight woolen back. This is more soft and clinging and is better adapted for gowns and wraps.

Enormous Muffs in Style.

The enormous muffs which still prevail look very well in wolves' skins, provided the extremely handsome kind is used which bears a likeness to silver fox. So, again, in the now selected Isabella bear they are effective. The very dark gray squirrel makes a lovely wide stole and rich muff hemmed with dark mink for those who like a combination of furs, and so does beaver made up very supple and limp, but this looks best by itself.

NATIONALITY OF RODRIGUEZ

Report He Was Really Born in New Mexico—This Would Leave United States Aggrieved Party.

Washington, Nov. 13.—Through unofficial sources a report has reached the state department that Antonio Rodriguez, the alleged Mexican who was burned at the stake at Rock Springs, Texas, by a mob, was really born in New Mexico.

If this should prove to be the case of course the Mexican government would be obliged to withdraw its demand for reparation. It would leave the United States the aggrieved party in the anti-American demonstrations in Mexico.

Little doubt is entertained here that the wireless message on the subject of the citizenship of Rodriguez, which was picked up last night by the war department's wireless station at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., was one being sent from Sec. Knox to President Taft, who is on board the cruiser Tennessee, en route to Panama.

It is expected at the department that the dual investigation of the lynching of Rodriguez, which now is being conducted by Gov. Campbell of Texas and Mexican consular officers from Eagle Pass, will settle all doubts as to the nationality of Rodriguez.

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATION

The United States Civil Service Commission finds it difficult to secure enough men for appointment as stenographers and typewriters in the Departments at Washington, D. C., at an entrance salary of $840 or $900 per annum, and for this reason will hold a special examination at Portsmouth, N. H., December 13, 1910. Applications on blank and circular of information can be secured from Mr. J. Goodwin Griffin at the Portsmouth postoffice or Edward E. Stebbins, District Secretary, Boston Mass.

VALUE OF PLAYGROUNDS.

How They Help in Making Children Good Citizens.

Children, as well as their elders, can help in making towns attractive by keeping their home surroundings clean and neat, by refraining from throwing rubbish and paper on the streets and in many other useful ways. But to accomplish this a great deal depends on the character and training of children. Healthy, pure minded and carefully trained youngsters usually prove the best town improvement workers, and anything that can be done to benefit their health and morals should be encouraged. Public and private playgrounds have been found to be very helpful, and in the Los Angeles Times George E. Bettinger tells as follows of the benefits children have derived from playgrounds in Los Angeles:

GIRLS' BACK OF A PLAYGROUND.

[From the American City, New York.]

Streets of boys and girls and furnished them with a place to spend their leisure hours. The boys here do more toward making good citizens of boys than any number of lectures or books can do. These lessons of law and order are imbibed as they go about their play. They become a part of him, and he obtains the essential ideas of good citizenship. An incident that happened in Los Angeles will show the efficiency of the playground in taking the boys off the streets. In a certain part of the city it had been the custom of the police department to put on two extra officers when the summer vacation of the schools began. This was necessary because it did not take long for the children to get into mischief. The year that the playground was opened in force of officers was increased, as usual, but, much to the surprise of the police, they were not needed and were removed in less than two weeks. This was made possible by the playground. The children went there instead of loafing around the streets and getting into trouble.

"NOTHING TO DO."

Dull Times Not Discouraging to the Man Who Keeps Himself Busy.

Nothing wins so well as constant work. Often we hear a man complaining about dull times. Perhaps his neighbor is doing a rushing business for the simple reason that his neighbor keeps busy. If customers are not coming in so rapidly as he might wish, the busy man takes time to get better and devises some new scheme to bring trade to the store.

Perhaps he tries himself in rearranging his goods in attractive manner on the shelves and in the show cases. If he finds some of the men who are complaining of his being dull he immediately gets those clerks busy getting out old goods, arranging them in a manner that he can carry on a cleaning up sale to advantage.

There is always lots of work to do. How many times do we find men who complain of dullness sitting in a store and vainly endeavoring to look through windows covered with dirt and dust? How many times do we find the man who says there is nothing to do looking at a display of fine goods in the show window?

Don't you forget it? If you have any business to look after you have something to keep you busy all the time. Nothing like keeping busy about the store. It is sure to pay in the end. Even the novice can keep busy reading some good trade paper and putting up on commercial ideas and make a winning thereby.

No Longer an "Eyesore."

Columbus, Ind., became metropolitan in a twinkling when Mayor Charles S. Barnaby turned on the water in the fountain that graces the center of the new City park and Louis J. Scheidt, president of the Commercial club, turned on the colored electric lights in the fountain. Hundreds of people saw the formal opening of the park. The new park is situated where the vacant city square owned by the Pennsylvania lines used to be. A year ago it was an eyesore to the city. Now it is graded, flowers bloomed in the beds last summer, there is a big fountain playing in the middle, inviting seats are placed along the cement walks, lights mark the entrances and the circle around the fountain, and 150 maple trees are growing rapidly for the first season. The park was furnished by public subscription, and C. J. Rush, chief engineer at the waterworks, gave the fountain.

Billboards and Landscape Views.
In many eastern cities and towns there is just now an increasing activity of the crusade against billboards, and, strange to say, many of these fights on the part of the cities and towns are directed against the billboards in the country—along the roadsides—where they mar or hide beautiful natural landscapes. Increased travel through the medium of the automobile and suburban trolley lines is largely responsible for this increased activity against an inexcusable evil.

SOCIAL PROGRESS.

What a Small City's Civic Club Has Accomplished.

All over the United States small towns are realizing that they, as well as the great cities, have social and civic conditions and problems which call for a rally of citizenship and community action. How much can be quickly accomplished in a small city is shown by the work of the Civic club of Cumberland, Allegany county, Md., which is only a year old.

The direct work has been done by the women, but the men have risen to the club's suggestions and are turning to it for help in a surprising number of cases, says the Survey. The major part of the meat dealers petitioned for the club's co-operation in doing away with insanitary conditions of sale from wagons. The city officials were interested to co-operate in removing weeds. The electric railway authorities have been brought to see the need of a new station and lavatory. The board of health is coming to realize the necessity of locating the slaughter houses more suitably and controlling their conditions.

A committee of merchants petitioned for an are light where disorderly men and women congregated and for the requirement of screens over fruit, meats, etc., exposed for sale.

Unfortunate conditions after dark in a cemetery led to the appointment of a committee to look after the nuisance, composed of members of the church controlling the cemetery. The school authorities have established an evening school this year, and a union of forces has brought about a very successful beginning of playgrounds. During the year a committee of men has put the Cumberland charities upon a business basis.

The Allegany county schools have made great progress during the last few years under the leadership of an efficient superintendent, and their service as social centers is being developed. All these social advances are likely to broaden into a comprehensive study of conditions and further progress in securing civic institutions and social legislation.

PARIS KNOWS THEIR VALUE.

Smooth, Clean Highways and Beautiful Parks Are Profitable to the City.

Paris has accepted unflinchingly the doctrine that smooth and clean highways are a wise investment and that so long as the work is done in a thorough and scientific manner, with an honest and skillful application of means to ends, the result is worth having regardless of cost. The expense of maintaining, cleaning and sprinkling the streets is greater than in any other European city, but the sort of pre-eminence that such a street service helps to secure is profitable in a hundred indirect ways.

Paris has by far the richest park equipment of any city in the world. The area of parks within an afternoon's excursion is 2,500 acres, while further away are more attractive public grounds, such as Versailles and Fontainebleau. It is impossible to retrace the paths which Paris derives annually from its parks, boulevards and public gardens. Visitors have estimated that Americans spend an average of $100,000,000 annually in foreign countries, and it is safe to say that Paris receives at least one-fifth of this vast sum, the traffic fees which are as great as the profit from the sale of Champagne, shoes to St. Louis and beer to Milwaukee.

The expenditure of Paris ought to convince the most skeptical that there is no modern community of civilized man which cannot afford to provide the most perfect public surroundings for its residents and scientific knowledge have discovered well made and clean streets, good water, proper drainage, convenient transit facilities, complete schools and thorough sanitary organizations. No city should think itself rich enough to prosper without them, and no city is so poor that it cannot afford them.—Harvey N. Sheppard in Outlook.

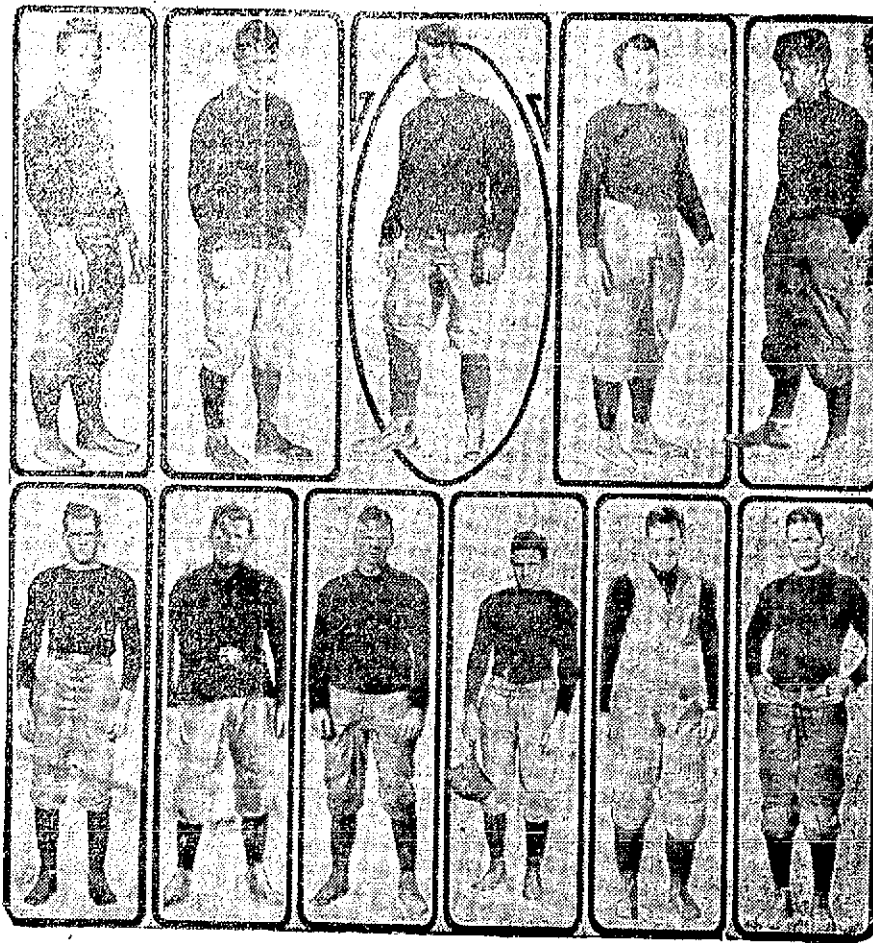

For a Spotless Town.

The Kansas City chief of police has issued a rather drastic order, as follows, says the Twentieth Century Magazine: "Arrest on view any person throwing paper or other rubbish on the streets or in vacant lots, any person excavating without a permit, any person loitering or sticking cards or posters on sidewalks, fence poles or in other public places; any person scattering handbills or circulars on sidewalks, streets, porches, yards or private premises or distributing them to passersby; all teamsters who allow dirt or rubbish to fall from their wagons. Patrolmen are also instructed to notify all owners or agents of vacant property on their beats that weeds must be cut at once and all rubbish removed; to notify owners of abutting property where earth has washed down on to the street or sidewalk to remove the same immediately; cause the immediate removal of manure piles which may be in the alleys."

Co-operative Street Work.

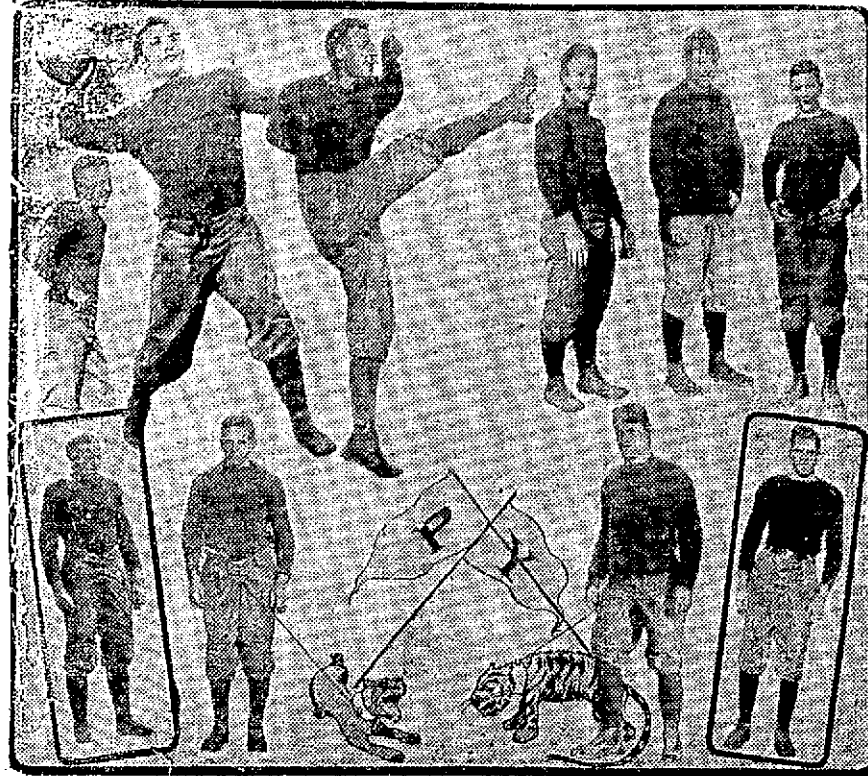

If you would have abutting property owners interested in having clean, beautiful streets to the extent of active co-operation municipalities must be progressive in street improvements. It is hardly to be expected that clean parkways and well cared for street trees will abound in districts where town officials do not do their full duty. It is hard enough to obtain full co-operation even where existing conditions are well high perfect, and every degree of negligence on the part of a town is fully reflected in the slovenly condition of those parts under care of the residents.

Harvard defeated Dartmouth 18 to 0. That in a nutshell is the story of the big game at Cambridge on Saturday afternoon, witnessed by 33,000 people. Harvard simply outclassed the wearers of the green, and on the other hand, Dartmouth did not come up to the expectations of her followers, for at times the team played anything but good football; in fact, nearly all of Harvard's points were scored on errors of Dartmouth.

Individually Dartmouth showed up as well as the winners, but collectively and for team work they were far behind the crimson team and at only one time were they actually dangerous. It was the old game of football, with but little of the new showing up. Bolt tried one or two forward passes, but they were nothing to speak of, and Harvard showed nothing in the way of new stuff that would give Yale a line on this part of their game.

Dartmouth had two great ends in Ryan and Daly, and in Ingersoll at quarter they have a great player, although it was his mistakes that allowed Harvard to score.

Yale Comes Fast.

Yale sprung a surprise on the football world on Saturday, when they "came back" fast enough to defeat

Princeton. Considering the showing of the two teams, and the fact that Princeton had not been scored on this season, while Yale had been beaten several times, it was one of the most remarkable recoveries seen in football for many years. Yale did not play a wonderful game, but it was the alertness of the team and the constant eye on the ball, ready to take advantage of every mistake of the Tigers that finally gave them the game, after Princeton had apparently won it. The final score was 5 to 3.

The great recovery of Yale has increased the interest in the game of next Saturday, and the odds offered on Harvard have taken somewhat of a slide, although Harvard is still the favorite.

HONOR TO PETTY OFFICERS

Medal and Badges Presented at Parade of 2200 Sailors at Newport Training Station.

Newport, R. I., Nov. 13.—Twenty-one hundred apprentice seamen and crew of the training station with their officers and instructors assembled on the parade grounds in front of the flagstaff Saturday morning for muster and to hear the articles of war read by Lieut. Commander R. Z.

Johnston, executive officer.

Commander Hourigan conferred honors upon three petty officers, who were called in front of the brigade. He pinned on the breast of yeoman John F. Marsden a medal awarded him by the navy department for duty in the Philippines campaign. Boatwain's mate Thomas Larsen and carpenter's mate John Bucalupo each received good conduct badges.

HART ELECTED CAPTAIN

Edward J. Hart of the Princeton football team was reelected captain after Saturday's game. Hart is a member of the class of 1912 and his home is in Exeter. He is one of the few Princeton players to be elected captain in his junior year, and in the further honor of having been elected to lead the varsity football team two years in succession.

OLD SHIPMASTER DEAD

Veteran Skipper Was Once Wrecked at Isles of Shoals.

Capt. Edward Lee of Newburyport, a very prominent shipmaster in his day and known at this port during his active days, died Sunday at his home, aged 91 years.

He had served on the U. S. Sloop of war Boston and commanded many vessels in the coastwise and West Indian trade, among them the schooner Huntress, Angella, S. C. Noyes, Cecil, Hattie E. Smith, Edward Lee, White Sea, Wasp, Oscar, Warren, Sarah Jane, Harvest Home, Sarah B. Babson and Harbinger. He was part owner of several of these vessels.

In the Sarah B. Babson he was wrecked at the Isles of Shoals in 1877. Three years later he retired from the sea.

NAVY YARD

The Yankee Again

Much to the surprise of people who have had an idea that the Yankee was hopelessly wrecked, the navy department this week learned from the contractors, who have the right to raise the submerged ship, that they intend to resume their operations. It was expected that with the approach of cold weather the work would at least be deferred until spring. The contractors are evidently as determined in their purpose as they are defiant of the elements and have asked for the detail of a naval constructor in connection with the work. For this purpose the navy department has designated Naval Constructor William B. Ferguson, who is on duty at the navy yard at Boston.

A Short Trip for Drayton

The torpedo boat destroyer Drayton left today for a shakedown trip and will run to Provincetown and back.

Back From Washington

Capt. F. A. Wilner, commandant of the navy yard who has been at a conference of yard commandants at Washington for the past ten days, returned on Saturday.

Not Quite Up to the Times on the West Coast

A conference of the commandants of navy yards has been in progress in the navy department this week. This is one of the results of Mr. Meyer's transcontinental trip, when he observed, during a visit to the Puget Sound navy yard, that there was some lack of uniformity in the administrative details at that place as compared with other naval establishments. Accordingly, Rear Admiral V. L. Coffman, commandant of the Puget Sound yard, and Rear Admiral Hugo Osterhaus, commandant of the Mare Island yard, were ordered to visit various navy yards and come to Washington to meet the eastern yard commandants. The occasion of Rear Admiral Coffman's presence in Washington has been availed of to examine him for promotion from the grade of captain. The commandants have discussed the various aspects of the Meyer system of navy yard control, with the view of taking advantage of the best of the methods which having been adopted—Army and Navy Register.

Stables Are Completed

The new stables in connection with the marine barracks have been completed by the contractors.

Going to Try Brake Again

Once more the navy will try out the ship brake which is claimed to stop a ship at full speed within her own length. The brake, known as the Lacoste device, was once attached to the U. S. S. Indiana, and after several trials, was ordered stripped from the ship at League Island yard, as it did not meet the requirements. Since then the makers have made improvements on the brake and the navy will give it another trial, but there is nothing that would lead those interested to believe that it will be adopted.

A business meeting of the Ministers' association of Portsmouth and vicinity is being held today in the North church chapel.

The pension system on the Boston and Maine railroad is again being talked up among the employees.

ASK BETTER AIDS TO NAVIGATION

The Portsmouth branch of the Masters, Mates and Pilots is circulating a strong petition which bears the signatures of many influential men of this city and other seaports for the several changes and improvements in the aids to navigation in Portsmouth Harbor.

The lighthouse board is asked to place a combination gas and whistle buoy at Kitt's Rock and move the Kitt's Rock bell to Gunboat shoal. The establishment of a bell buoy at Wood Island and the change of the light in the tower at Fort Point in order that it can be distinguished from other shore lights, are also requested. The government is also asked to increase the intensity of the Whales Back light and install a larger fog whistle.

It is believed that the board will give the petition much consideration as each and everything they asked for is certainly needed and has been for many years.

BAD BOYS WITH GUN

Amused Themselves by Shooting Ducks and a Dog

Some boys made bad use of a rifle on Sunday while out on the Benfield road. They amused themselves by shooting at the ducks of John Hett and are reported to have put several shots into a dog, who was doing his duty in protecting the place.

The police and the parents of the boys were notified and after investigation the parents made a settlement with the owner of the ducks and dog.

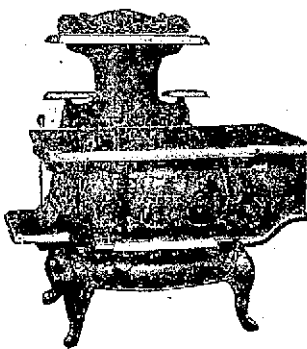

The veteran firemen are hustling on their annual ball which occurs on Thanksgiving eve.

The Packard Method

In building each Packard Piano a high class workman takes all the time he has to do the work right. After the work is done, time must be consumed in allowing the parts to settle, and then it is gone over again. This is repeated until each detail has been brought into a harmonious whole.

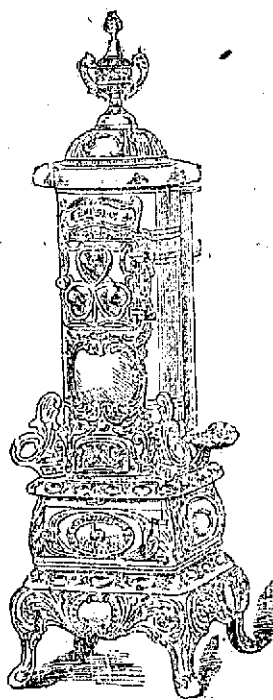

Ample time is allowed for every branch of the work, nothing is rushed or crowded, and no chances taken. It takes an average of six to eight months to build a Packard Piano.

Appreciate the Packard Method. Then, if never before, you will realize that the Packard is all we claim for it.

Cash or Easy Terms. Your old piano taken as part payment.
